

Observation first day of 6 -8 vocal students creating their own song.

Overall the groups were working together and were able to come up with lyrics and some musical ideas. Most groups used their iPad to add some rhythm or other accompaniment. Most songs appear to be rap based, but they are coming up with good ideas. I answered lots of questions about the topics I picked for the songs. Some thought there wasn't enough topics to choose from. Eventually everyone found something they can work with. Next class period on Thursday we will see if they continue their current idea or make changes.
