

Who Took All The Food From Walmart
By Carli Nieman
5th Grade

This is a story about the case of who took all the food from Walmart. My name is Carli and my partner is Lauren. We are the best detectives around!

This afternoon we were searching for some good clues and we found one. We found a trail of wrappers, food boxes, and banana peels. This may be the breakthrough clue we have always needed! We also found out that Tony (one of the suspects) had LOTS of food in his house. Also, it was the house that was led to by all the trash!

We also have an idea on another suspect! We found out his name is Wyatt Brown. We also think Wyatt and Tony are brothers! Also they could be teaming up! The good part is we know who they are and we know where they live.

Since we have a deduction on who it is, we can now crack the case! We went to Walmart and asked if anyone saw something suspicious. We asked Lucy (a worker) and she said she did. She said she saw two men walking around with a lot of food in their hands. She also said she never did see them checkout. We showed her who Tony and Wyatt were and she said those were the men!

We went back to their house and started interrogating them. After two hours of try to get it out of them, they finally came clean. We threw all the stolen food away and made them pay for it.

After we cracked the case, Lauren and I went back to our office. We were so glad we solved that case! What a day!
