

“Oh” why do they keep calling me Jeff?

By Roberto Loya

5th Grade

They are accusing me of things I did not do. I think it is because the criminal keeps putting it is Jeff, but it is not me. I am the alibi. I am so mad they threw me in jail and let me go. My doses not trust me. The detectives are Carter, Loya, Schlitz, TerHaar, and McDonald. I have told them to run a finger print scan. They do, but he had gloves. We found a clue he left his wallet. Also found a glove, crowbar, and a shoe print. He left a note. It says, “I have your family, all of your families, you will get at the old jail.” So we went to the old jail; it was a trap. The bad person was detective Carter. We got out and chased him and caught him and took him to jail and got paid a lot of money.

Our next case was the missing basketballs from the gym. It took us four days to find them. Just in time for the big game on Friday. We investigated everybody and searched the gym. Then we looked in the closet; they were not in there. Then we asked everybody if they had seen who did this. Then we searched the whole town in the trash, alleys, and the dump. They were not anywhere. The only place we had not checked was the houses, so we did. We found it in a team member from the track team. They were in their car. Then they had to apologize to the basketball team and the basketball team said they knew they just wanted to run and they solved the case. Just in time for the big game.
