

I'm a Football

By: Mariono Gomez

I see football players. I can hear people in the crowd yelling for their favorite team. I touch the dirt when I hit the ground. I could taste metal when I hit the football goal. "Ouch!" I could smell food from the concession stand. I love eating grass, when the football players throw me up in the sky I could touch the clouds. I can also see flashes in the crowd, I smiled! I love my picture taken.

Ouch? Worst part of my job is getting kicked. I love it when they pass me. Both teams protect me and sometimes the football players get on top of me. Also the football players leave me on the football field. Now, that's rude isn't it? They just leave me there. I like it when the football players take me home to practice. I get to sleep on a nice comfy pillow.

My life is a good one. I am always really popular with all the players. I would not want to be a soccer ball. All those guys spend their days rolling around. I love to fly through the air. My job is awesome.
