

The Life of Being a RC Car

By: Memo Aragon

Oh! Wow, I hit a curve. Look I nailed that jump. I hate it when dogs chase me but I love it when I chase them. When I'm on the streets I take a dirt road, when a dog chases me around the corner I run into a skunk. Then I go home. I hear voices talking about a stinky smell. They go to the cement floor and see me. I was covered in dirty water. I hear a bumping noise. Then the car goes into a garage. It starts snowing it turns cold.

When I went to sleep, sweaty hands turned me off. I woke up and heard rain. The snow turned to ice. I go outside and I drift on the ice, I tip over. Then tip back up and then my tires were frozen to the ground. I had to get home. I was so close. I was stuck. It started snowing it is cold. My wheels started freezing my owner can't leave me like this. My battery is getting low I can't move. Here he comes I have been rescued. I think I should wait until spring for my next adventure.
