Special Needs Arts Classes

Art classes specially designed for kids and young adults with special needs. Classes are run by Stacey Siran, an educator with the Allentown School District. The students typically work on two projects each week. The projects vary from painting, to collaging to crafting, and many other creative projects. Very hands-on and fun! The classes are designed to help the students learn about shapes, depth, color and more. Some projects feature sensory activities. Lots of camaraderie and fun! If your child need adaptive art equipment, please let us know!
